HOW DOES UM PCIT WORK?

PCIT is a very effective treatment backed by over 30 years of research. Live coaching is a key ingredient of PCIT. Your PCIT Coach will observe and coach you while you play with your child. Your coach and you will work together to manage challenging child behaviors.

How Live Coaching Works:

- You learn PCIT skills quickly because you practice positive attention and discipline skills with your child with help from your coach.
- You receive caring support from your coach while you gain confidence and master parenting skills
- You receive live feedback from your coach about strategies to manage your child’s challenging behaviors.

PCIT can be enjoyable for you and your child. You may see improvements within just 3-4 sessions.

WHAT IS PCIT?
PCIT is a 12-18 session free parenting program created for children and families. PCIT teaches you to manage your child’s difficult behaviors, while having fun and improving your child’s good behaviors. PCIT also works to reduce your stress.

PCIT coaches and families meet once each week for a one-hour appointment. The length of treatment depends on how quickly you learn PCIT skills, and how quickly your child’s behavior gets better.

PCIT starts with you following your child’s lead during play. You will be taught how to praise, describe, reflect, and imitate your child’s behavior. These skills will help improve your relationship with your child and your child’s behavior.

Next, PCIT helps you learn to use commands that work with your child. It also helps you learn to use calm discipline that works. Your PCIT coach will help you learn how to manage your child’s behaviors in many different places and situations. As a part of PCIT, we tailor our services to meet the needs of your family.
